

Octopus' texte

I would like to be under the sea, to see octopus. They live in the bottom of the oceans, under the waves, in the shade. Octopus are mollusc (meaning soft body). They have no internal or external skeleton. They have two eyes, eight arms (octopus means eight arms) and three hearts. There are over 300 kinds of octopus all around the world. Octopus are the most intelligent invertebrates. When they are in danger they segregate ink. Octopus' body is so soft and flexible that it can go inside cracks. They can also get into bottles. I think octopus are very interesting animals.
